Christopher Moberg's practice began 14 years ago in 2005 and is focused on defending employers and insurers in a variety of areas, including workers' compensation, labor and employment, and contract defense.

Mr. Moberg is experienced in handling disputes from initial investigation, through formal discovery, trial and appeal. He has defended more than a thousand worker's compensation cases in southern Missouri. Mr. Moberg is also licensed in Arkansas, where he exclusively practices worker's compensation defense. In 2008, he was honored to orally argue an employment discrimination case before the United States Court of Appeals, 8th Circuit.

Mr. Moberg regularly speaks at lectures and seminars hosted by the Missouri Bar's Workers' Compensation Institute, the Southwest Missouri Bar, and the Cox Health Orthopedic & Spine Summits. He presents on topics including workers' compensation, legal ethics, and medicine. For five consecutive years spanning 2014 through 2018, Mr. Moberg was awarded the Top Attorney's Rising Star Award as published by KC Magazine for attorneys under the age of 40.

He obtained his Juris Doctorate from the University of Missouri – Kansas City School of Law and was the recipient of the John L. Sheridan Award for Most Outstanding Oralist. During law school, Mr. Moberg was an officer in both the Environmental Law Society and the Health Law Society, and interned at the Environmental Protection Agency. After graduating in 2005, Mr. Moberg relocated from Kansas City to southwest Missouri to practice law. He resides in Springfield, Missouri with his son Henry, and is an avid bowler and saxophonist, a voracious reader, and continues to explore his dual passions for law and medicine.
