Andrew Boyer is an associate attorney in MVP Law's St. Louis office and practices in the firm's civil litigation and insurance defense practice group, representing clients in Missouri. He first joined the firm in 2025 as a summer associate and began practicing as an associate attorney in 2026.

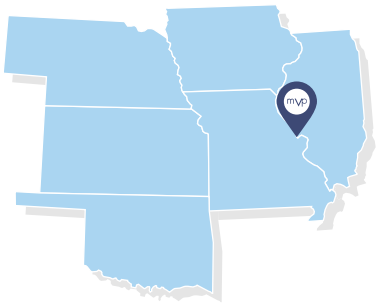

In Andrew's practice, he assists clients in pursuing and defending claims of subrogation and contractual indemnity claims. Andrew regularly handles trucking and commercial automobile liability claims for regional, national, and international logistics, transportation, and delivery companies. He also handles retail liability matters, including the defense of restaurants, hotels, and retailer, for premises liability and wrongful death claims.

Prior to joining the firm, Andrew attended and graduated from the University of Missouri, Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Art in Political Science and Constitutional Democracy. Andrew went on to attend the University of Missouri School of Law where he earned his Juris Doctor in 2026. While in law school, Andrew received the CALI award for excellence in Civil Procedure II, Religious Liberty and Church State Relations, and Local Government Law for achieving the highest grade. He also received the Resa Kerns Law Library Outstanding Student Worker Award of the Year in 2026.

Born and raised in St. Louis, Andrew lives in South St. Louis City with his fiancée and goldendoodle. He is a big Missouri Tigers and St. Louis sports fan. In his free time, you can find Andrew watching sports, golfing, playing pickleball, and spending time with friends and family.
